

Symbol Magic

Using symbols is using an abbreviated or conceptual representation. As a group of frequencies that can counteract, empower and transform they work very well. There is a warning, when you set something in motion, you may get more than you bargained for. If used to try and CHANGE someone else's mind you might find it a waste of effort, having said that sending good or loving energy to someone will work a treat.

Some symbols are best used in situations, some for clearing the air so to speak and yet others to encourage higher energies to get things moving. Some symbols will really only work well when used on yourself, bearing this in mind if you choose your symbol well, pair it with some candle magic, throw in some crystal magic and then encourage your spell (affirmation) to make a complete energy you might be more than pleasantly surprised at outcomes.

cho ku ret

Animate an inanimate object - awaken an inanimate object to the energy, this enables you to effectively place energy into an item for someone to hold or wear so it can be used over a longer period of time. Or you can use it with your candle, your affirmation (spell) and crystal effectively energizing them.

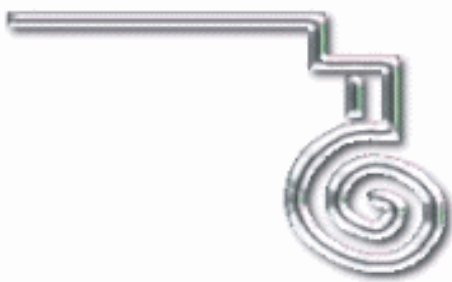

Particular value for those who have trouble sustaining energy, plans, etc.

P.S. to my knowledge you must hold the object to animate.

Eeftchay is one of those symbols that can seem to come back at you, if you have been fooling yourself, not honest with others or your intention with your spell, it will be revealed to others, as well as yourself. This symbol is almost like a key, containing both structure and penetrating accuracy

Endless inner sight: to open the third eye so that one can see inward to the truth of one's self and others

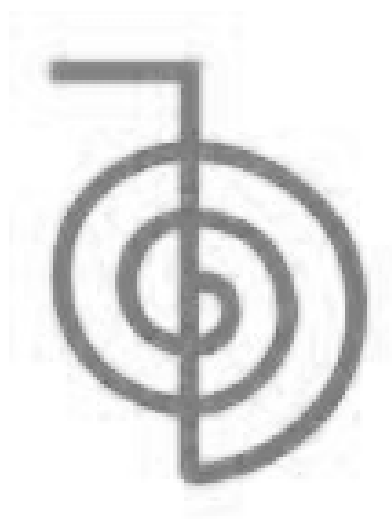

This is a true symbol of awareness and as such is a double edge sword as with self-awareness comes the truth of who we are right now and who we have been in the past. This is not always comfortable so could lead to a challenging time.

Use when a person cannot see the truth in their situation does not accept responsibility or is blaming others for where they are in life, where you feel someone is deceiving you or when you feel that intentionally or otherwise, the truth is being missed.

Spiritually use for yourself when ready to look inside self to create a better future

cho ku rei

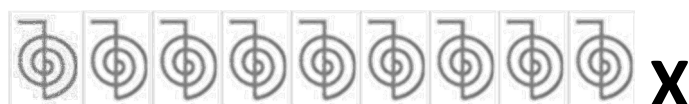

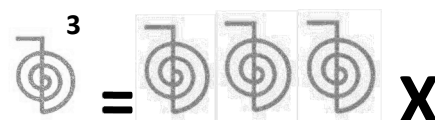

This is a symbol to empower an intention, energy flow, or an individual: Enhances the power of the universe. In our own lives, bring forward what is needed to manifest. It can be used to focus universal energy on a particular space, or place, in the present or in the future.

Use on any area of the body or chakra, can be used into any situation or environment where you want an increase in something. Not recommended in situations dominated by angry or overly stimulated energies

This symbol can be used to the power of 3, 7 or 9.

For exampl

And so on, mathematically the equation would look like this $3 \times 3 \times 3 \times 3 = 81$

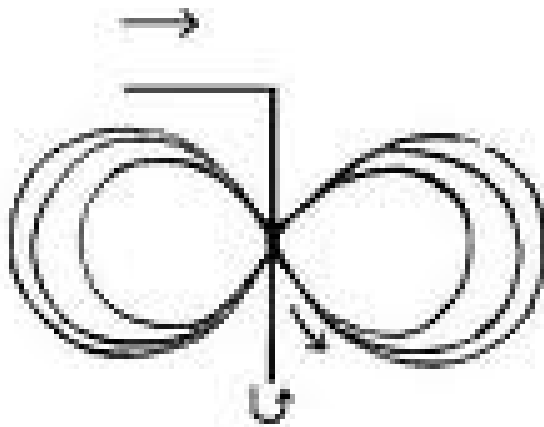

For the symbol it deepens the and progresses

Making a tunnel .

This symbol can be used for yourself or into a situation, it is not effective used for or to someone else. It is worth remembering that if you have been doing or not doing things to get in your own way re time frames. This symbol will act as a catalyst to clear those things; this is not necessarily fun or comfortable but will always put you IN time.

Ta Ku Rei

A symbol of power and enhancement the inclusion of the infinity pattern creates an expansion to the infinite finishing at the heart Chakra, useful for bending of time and bringing a sense of rightness everything in its right place and space, grounding you in the groove. As with all lemniscate what goes out comes back in, meets its match and can be used. When it is an expanding lemniscate as this one is it expands or compounds the effects. This means that there are steady improvements over time. Use at the heart chakra, for those who think time is against them, who feel out of sync or that their timing is off.

Use to the power of 3,7 or 9

Mai Yur Ma

Gateway to the soul via the heart chakra: creating an expansion in all aspects of unconditional love, compassion, opening the heart to others. Increasing the capacity of an individual to share themselves from an inner level can be used to the power of 3, 7 and 9

Used when an individual is compromised in the area of love, may experience difficulty having appropriate love relationships, or releasing hurt from the past, where there is resentment or blame and an unforgiving or hard nature, can be used on self or another

It is not effective when used in situations, it is worthwhile remembering that it may encourage some compassion in another when used that way, but that may not go further than a thought, also if the situation is not one where they are not being dis-compassionate but you are not getting what you want. It will be ineffective

This is a very popular symbol and embraces fertility, this is for birthing ideas, can release hormones, sexual desire, communication, ideas, inner or latent talent and basically anything that is not flowing in the way that it could. If two people stop talking this will get them started, if you have an artists or writers block this will release it and so on.

Se He Kei

You can't go past this one for releases, clearing barriers to expression on any level and can be used to calm another person or you increase the flow of energy without increasing pressure. Is particularly helpful when there is a lack of awareness of the issue, or those involved don't know what is wrong.

Use into any environment, situation or directed to another person to help them say what they need to say, bear in mind there is no guarantee it will be what you want to hear, having said that knowing releases one from false hopes and fears.

It can be used to release trapped ideas, in a group to encourage free communication and sharing knowledge

7.

Hon Sha Ze Sho Nen

Healing on any level really where you are not present: including, past and future lives, relationships or situations.

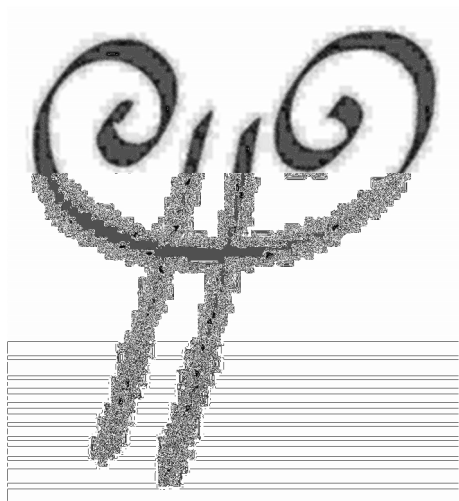

Is of use where hurt in a relationship or situation cannot be released in the present. This symbol goes to the essence of things that may be causing problems, targeting the root cause. It will always be right on target even if you are unsure of core issues, origins or a specific need.

This is a symbol that will release the heart of the matter in question and moves across time to do so. Issues often just seem to disappear when this symbol is used.

Being creative is sadly overlooked in relationships, manifestations and day to day life. You cannot expect to get something different by continuing to do the same thing again and again. Creativity is not just about baking a cake, making music or painting a picture. It is about being creative in ones thinking, this allows for growth and manifestations that move beyond expectation and even dreams. Encouraging creativity is to encourage a new train of thought, a new process, a new way of doing something, fresh ideas and transforming old patterns. This brings me back to my first website catch phrase. To change your life you need only change your mind.

Creativity

Surrender preconceived ideas and allow potential to guide your hand

This is a symbol that encourages you to release what you think you know about what you need to do, be or say to manifest or be creative.

It allows you to see opportunity, create opportunity and take advantage of opportunity

This is a symbol to use wisely, it is unlikely anyone would use it more than once in a lifetime, it is used only on your self and oh boy, it's got a kick. The invocation is best used when in a semi meditative state holding the symbol in mind allow yourself plenty of time so the symbol can engage energetically and do its thing.

Violet Flame

I invoke the Violet Flame of Archangel Gabriel to transmute and bring wholeness to this divine being

The Violet Flame transforms energies allowing your higher I AM self to burn off the karmic ties that bind you and stop your progress both spiritually and materially.

You use voice to call upon the Violet Flame when you want to invite it into psychological problems that go back to your early childhood hurts or even your past lives. You can use it for problems in relationships, emotions, and family or to heal any area of your body where there are health issues. If you believe in its power - it can help you relieve stress, depression and anger. You will find as conditions are cleared you will more easily be able to express love, forgiveness and attract good things to you - prosperity, healing and peace of mind. It is also grounding and helps create balance within.

The purpose of the Violet Flame is to transform negative energy into positive energy.

It is the most physical of all the spiritual flames. When we invoke it change happens on every level of our being. It expels toxins lodged in our physical organs and it changes the karmas and traumas of our present and past lives. It is a miracle flame because it dissolves the weight and burden of Guilt, Shame, and Anger by consuming the cause of our physical problems.

The Flame is a tool to help you release karma, phase frequency and conscious awareness and to activate your unique genetic sequences. It is a key ingredient in ascension and spiritual growth. You may see and/or sense heat from the Violet Flame when it is invoked correctly.

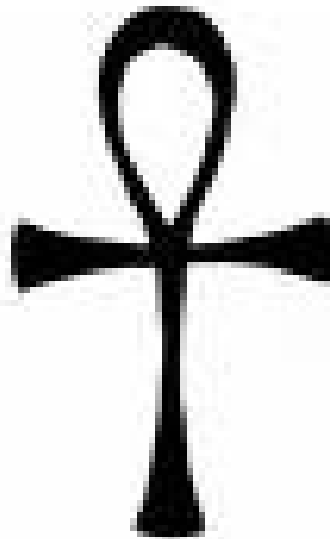

The Violet Flame is the essence of one of the "seven rays". Imagine the appearance of the rainbow and its 7 colours. Spiritual light manifests in a similar way as 7 rays. The Violet ray is known as the 7th ray (freedom). When you call upon it, it descends as a beam of spiritual energy that comes straight into your heart and your whole being fills with qualities of mercy, justice, forgiveness, freedom, compassion and transmutation.

As an Egyptian symbol it has a weighty history which comes with the use of it. There is responsibility and truth wrapped up in the feminine, spiritual and actual.

Ankh

Known as the key of life it is a great symbol, representing the unlocking of secrets, revealing the hidden and aligning intuition with action.

Seen as a journey through life it encourages you to uncover the secrets behind the creations that become the life you live, this can reveal your motivations and the motivations of others. If unsatisfied with life it can show where you may have had agendas or ill-conceived plans. And reveal the same of others

To Change

This symbol I bought through. It creates change where change is required. This is not a symbol to use lightly as the consequences are not often what you might expect or even hoped for, how it works is determined by WHAT needs to change to create potential.

Use where there is stagnation, where attitudes or stubbornness reign, where you want rapid movement into a new direction or belief.

You can use this symbol for others to create a change in the way they interact with you. This symbol simply brings around massive and rapid change targeting the aspect that need to change.
